Force Prices of July and August Options to Highest Figures Yet Attained.

BEARS MAKE RETURN RAID.

Report That Liverpool Concern Will Ship Back 10,000 Bales to Meet Short Contracts, Buying More Cheaply.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL New York, July 23.-There was another stration in cotton by the New Orleans pool to-day, by which prices were forced up new high records for the season.

July cotton, which is now considered spot cotton, was advanced to 13.75 cents a pound, 45 points higher than the previous high prices established on June 25. The August option was also advanced very sharply, selling up to 12.75 cents a pound.

ese prices are now considered on a basis of 12 cents a pound for August and 14 cents for July cotton. In New Orleans the price of August cotton was forced up to 14 cents a pound, or 125 points higher than the maximum prices established in this city to-day.

The sensational advances in July and August options had a sympathetic effect on the distant list. There were gains of 31 points in September, 16 in October and 13 in December. The biggest gain scored to-day was in July, with a gain of 55 points, or $2.75 per bale. August scored an advance of 45

The high prices of the day were, however, not sustained, and toward the closs an attack by the bears resulted in lowering prices all around the pit. The August option, for example, which was fairly active, sold off from 12.75 cents a pound to 12.35 cents, closing at 12.40 cents, a loss for the day of 4 points. July contracts were worth less at the close than they were farlier in the day by 45 points or $2.25 a fulle.

In New Orleans the early gains were fairly well sustained. In that city August deliveries gained 34 a baie, to 14 cents a pound. NOT MUCH BOLD.

With the great advances in prices, the New Orleans party did not sell very much spot cotton, the total for the day being estimated at 200 bales. The total transactions for the day on the Cotton Exchange in all the different months amounted to approx-imately 300,000 bales. In Liverpool the price of cotton for imme-

In Liverpool the price of cotton for immediate delivery there is now selling slightly below the New York figures and considerably below the New York figures and considerably below the New Orieans quotations. In a normal market Liverpool prices should be at least 80 points above the New York market. This condition of affairs led to the statements that Liverpool operators would ship cotton here to settle the contracts.

It was reported that one big interest in the British dity was short about 19,000 beles on New York contracts, the supplies for which he had accumplated in Liverpool. This amount of cotton, it was reported on the floor of the exchange, would be shipped back to this country for delivery on July and August contracts. Already shout 4,000 bales are returning on the Cymilo.

About ten days ago P. J. McAliney, manager and secretary of the St. Louis branch of the Gunning system, which has its headquarters in Chicago, and Charles J. Hager, treasurer, went to Atlantic City to attend a convention of bill posters. They left Buchanan, who since last October had been a trusted employe of the company, in charge. Before going they signed a blank check and authorized the cashier to fill it out for any amount he deemed necessary to meet the expenses while they were away. The check was drawn on the National Bank of Commerce, with which the Gunning Company does business, and was made payable to the order of Buchanan.

Monday afternoon Buchanan told some of the clerks in the office that he was going to Sidney, Ill., to visit his grandfather, who was sick. He said he would return Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

After leaving the office he went to the National Bank of Commerce, it is said, and presented the check which had been made for $5,075. In return for the check he received 100 $50 bills in packages and $75 in smaller currency.

The stub of the check, the auditors of the company say, was made out for but $50. When Buchanan did not return Tuesday morning it was believed that he had been detained in Sidney. Wednesday morning two auditors of the Gunning company came from Chicago to check up the books. In auditing the finances they found that $5.075 had been drawn from the National Bank of

CRITICISE BRITISH FOREIGN POLICY

Members of House of Commons Declare Government Is Weak and Vacillating.

WAVERING TOWARD GERMANY.

Lord Cranborne, in Reply, Dwells at Length on Manchurian Question, Saying That Russia's Purpose Is Secret.

London, July 2.-When the House of Commons was in committee to-day Sir Charles Dilke (advanced Radical) assailed the foreign policy of the Government, which he said was strangely inconsistent,

He compared the recent visit of King Edward to France and President Loubet's refurn visit to England with the Government's attitude toward Germany, and accused the Government of cringing to Germany in the Venezuelan matter and of allowing themselves to be hoodwinked.

"But," Sir Charles said, "when there was a popular cry against Germany, the Goverrment hatched up the Canadian tariff grievance, and lately the Ministers language of absolute ferocity against Germeny.'

The Under Foreign Secretary, Lord Cranborne, replying, said the German Emperor had nothing whatever to do, directly or indirectly, with the communications in the Venezuelan affair. He vindicated the policy of the Government in this matter, and said Great Britain was on friendly terms with all the Powers Continuing the Under Secretary denied that Great Britain was getretary denied that Great Britain was getting the worst of it.

Criticism of the Government's foreign policy continued at the evening session. Joseph Walton, a Liberal, who strongly favored an extension of British trade by means of the Colonial Department, accused the Government of a succession of humiliating surrenders in China. He said the time had arrived for facing the situation in Manchuris and New Chwang.

The Under Foreign Secretary, Lord Cranborne, in reply, said that British trade in China is still increasing at a satisfactory rate and he was confident of securing a full share of railway and other valuable concessions.

full share of railway and other valuable concessions.

"The Government," he said, "is fully ware of the position in Manchuria. The great difficulty up to the present time in negotiating with Russia has been that Great Britian has never yet been able to ascertain exactly what the Russian Government wants, and the fact remains that Manchuria is still occupied. Russia's failure to fulfill her undertaking is satisfactory neither to Great Britian, Japan nor the United States.

"The Russian Government knows perfectly that England would be delighted to come to an agreement, but there are difficulties. I doubt whether the Russian Government is so homogenious a despotism as might be supposed from her past history. There seems to be at least two parties in the Government with whom we are obliged to deal, and England has never raceived an intimation of what Russia expected.

"Our ally, Japan," he added, "is becoming measy at the prolongation of the occupation of Manchuria, and we are equally anxious for some kind of settlement. There are certain elements out of which an agreement ought to be possible, and if Russia is prepared to give due weight to our treaty rights and commercial interests she will not find us irreconcilable to compromise." FIGHT ON TARIFF HAS BEGUN.

Leaflets Prepared Under Chamberlain's Supervision.

London, July 23.-The educational campaign on the tariff question which Colonial Secretary Chamberlain has vigorously nched by means of leaflets and circulars issued under his supervision, though not bearing his name, came in for serious criticism in the House of Lords this afternoon. Earl Spencer, the Liberal leader in that house, complained that Mr. Chamberlain was practically violating the Government agreement, namely, that the fiscal discusagreement, namely, that the fiscal discussion should be postponed until October. He said the distribution of such literature looked on its face as though the Government had taken up Mr. Chamberlain's views. Earl Spencer added that if Mr. Chamberlain remained in the Cabinet it would be almost impossible to dissociate his views from the policy of the Government as a whole.

from the policy of the Government as a whole.

The Duke of Devonshire, Lord President of the Council and Conservative leader in the House, retorted that while he gathered from the remarks that the Premier ought to tell Mr. Chamberiain to resign, he feared this was a rather illogical procedure, since though the Government had by no means yet adopted the views of the Colonial Secretary, the Government's investigation, so far as it had proceeded, had convinced the Premier and his colleagues that Mr. Chamberiain's impeachment of the fiscal policy was well founded and that changes ought to be effected.
